Evidence of the prior concerning toll of the ferry at Sunderland which should be paid to the prior, but is unjustly usurped by the bishop.

1. The vill or borough of Sunderland is part of the vill of Wearmouth; the foundation charter of the borough, issued by Hugh [of le Puiset, bishop of Durham] does not mention the ferry toll.

2. The survey of 1183, called Boldon Book, mentions no ferry toll under Wearmouth.

3. The account of Nicholas Gategang, receiver of the Durham exchequer, for 1337-8, mentions no toll under Wearmouth.

4. The demise of 1348 by Thomas Hatfield, bishop of Durham, to Richard Hedworth and others of the borough of Sunderland, mentions no ferry toll.

5. The account of William of Embleton, receiver of the Durham exchequer, for 1383-4, mentions no toll under Sunderland: the rolls of the Halmote Court should be consulted.

6. The account of William of Embleton, receiver of the Durham exchequer, for 1385-6, mentions no ferry toll under Sunderland.

7. The account of William of Embleton, constable and receiver of the Durham exchequer, for 1385-6, refers to a new rental for the bishop's exchequer: this should be consulted to see whether it refers to a ferry toll.
