Preface

Creation of catalogue
The `Abbas Hilmi handlist was created at the former Oriental Library in 1980 by Elizabeth Cory and Jill Butterworth; descriptions for additional accessions have been added to June 2018. Additional descriptions for Arabic material were made by Ahmed El Bindari and W. Berridge in 2010-12; for German material by Dorothea Miehe, 2012-2018; and Turkish material by Harun Tuncer. The draft list of Ibrahim Pasha letters was done by Christine Woodhead, 1988. Rekeyed WS 1998 and SGML RIH March 1998.

`Abbas Hilmi II
`Abbas Hilmi II, the great-great-grandson of Mohamed Ali, was born on 14th July 1874 and succeeded his father, Muhammad Taufiq Pasha, as Khedive in 1892. The papers cover the period of `Abbas Hilmi II's Khedivate 1892-1914 and extend after his deposition in December 1914 until his death on 21st December 1944 at Geneva.

Accession details
The personal papers of `Abbas Hilmi II were in the possession of his family until 1980 when they were deposited on loan to the University of Durham by the Mohamed Ali Foundation.
Several accessions have been deposited by the Foundation since 1980, catalogue entries for which are added at appropriate sections of the catalogue. Unless otherwise stated in the item record, HIL/461-HIL/533 were accessioned 9 May 2017 (Misc.2016/17:121).

Arrangement
The collection, with material written in French, Arabic, German, English, Greek, Italian, Turkish and Ottoman Turkish, comprises some 538 files, mainly correspondence written to `Abbas Hilmi II, about 223 pamphlets, 199 printed volumes, and 2 maps which are listed separately in the library catalogue. The language of a file is indicated in brackets after each file entry. The files are arranged chronologically (as far as possible) within each section.
Within each file, pages are numbered consecutively, each written page being numbered.
Thus, for example, file 1/1-56 means that file 1 has 56 sides with writing on.

Access
Microfilms of the papers are accessible to bona fide research workers who should satisfy the University in advance of their visit that the documents represent a serious and necessary source of information and must sign a written agreement. Access to the original documents will not normally be allowed. Please address all enquiries to the Keeper of Oriental Books, Durham University Library, Palace Green Section, Palace Green, Durham, DH1 3RN, England. The Mohamed Ali Foundation offers an annual prize scheme for theses making substantial use of material in the collection.

Form of citation
The form of citation should be GB-0033-HIL, or the collection title `Abbas Hilmi II papers, (and Ibrahim Pasha letters if from that section) and the reference number.
To order items in the searchroom, use the collection reference code(s), derived by removing the repository code (GB-0033-), followed by the reference number. Citing the section of the finding aid is useful.

Hasan Khalid Pasha Abu Al-Huda al-Sayyadi
HIL/2/1-341  1896-1936

Correspondence and reports from Hassan Khaled Pasha Abu Al-Huda, the Egyptian Chief Minister of Trans-Jordan at the time, on the situation in the Levant, the Hijaz and Iraq, and reports on visits and meetings in London, Turkey and Germany. The letters give a glimpse of the political scene in Egypt (HIL2/46-48), and the uneasy relation between the Khedive and the rulers of the Hijaz in the 1930s (HIL/2/125,130-131,137), which manifests in the Khedive’s letter to the British High Commissioner in Transjordan in which he objects to a loan to be given to the rulers of the Hijaz. The file also illustrates the unstable and dangerous situation in Syria at that time (HIL2/107-114). A few key players in history are mentioned in some of the letters, among them Lord Passfield, the British Secretary of State for the Colonies in 1931 (HIL/2/28), Churchill (HIL/2/24-25) and King Faisal (HIL/2/125). A small number of letters demonstrate personal aspects of Hassan Pasha himself, his unshakeable loyalty to the Khedive, his close relationship with his sister and even that he was ambidextrous (HIL2/136). Other letters demonstrate the close and warm relationship between the Khedive and King ’Ali of the Hijaz, King Ghazi of Iraq and King Faisal I of Iraq (HIL/2/174,196); and refer to the Assyrian revolt in Iraq in 1933 just one month before the Simele massacre (HIL2/196-197); discussion of the revolt by the League of Nations; British opposition to any act of mass killing against the Assyrian minority (HIL2/202,203); impact of the Great Depression on the Egyptian economy (HIL2/183,184); Hassan Khaled Pasha to the Khedive regarding a request for a meeting in July 1935 from Sir Cosmo Parkinson and John Chancellor, the former British Higher Commissioner to Palestine and Transjordan (HIL2/236); the number of non-Egyptian doctors in Cairo and how Helwan, a neighbourhood just outside Cairo was famous as a place for medical recreation (HIL2/179,182); unsigned undated document, probably by Hassan Khaled, containing a Machiavellian plan of 14 points to control the public (HIL2/249); Hassan Khaled regarding their mutual belief that Lord Kitchener has played a major role in souring the relationship between the Khedive and the British (HIL2/250); the emergence of armed resistance in Palestine, and a specific incident in November 1935 when large quantities of arms and ammunition sent to the Jews in Palestine were discovered on a ship, leading to a country-wide strike (HIL2/270); the forming of an armed group by Izz Ad-Din al-Qassam, and public reaction to his murder in December 1935 (HIL2/293).

Multiple reports from and to Hassan Khaled show the internal situation in Egypt, including the negative attitude of the public towards the current ruler of Egypt, King Fuad I who is criticised in all major newspapers (HIL2/265,267), the internal struggles and conflicts in the royal palace, and the conflicting role of some members of Al-Azhar, the powerful Egyptian religious institution, in supporting or opposing King Fuad and the Khedive (HIL2/293); open support for Italy from Egyptian politicians and journalists (HIL/2/316-317); Britain's failure to adopt a containment policy, resulting in increasing hatred between Arabs and Jews (HIL2/322); 'Abbas Hilmi's delight at the resignation of Lloyd George as PM, and his succession by Bonar Law (HIL/2/330); negotiations between Egypt and Britain in 1930 to try to temporarily stop Jewish immigration to Palestine (HIL/2/337).

A handwritten draft of two chapters out of five that made up an Arabic book entitled Ma’rad al-Siyasa [Exposition of Politics] by ‘Ali Yusuf al-Kiridli [the Cretan], the proprietor of al-Alam al-Uthmanli [the Ottoman Flag]. The copy is undated, but it covers events that took place before 1900. The two chapters discuss the relationship between Egypt and the Ottoman Empire, and between the Khedive and Damad Mahmud Pasha. The second chapter discusses a political movement in Egypt named Shafaq [Twilight], the aim of which, according to the author, is the assassination of the Ottoman Sultan, and which he also claims has connections with the Young Turks political reform group (HIL/3/19-27).

Photographic album of 50 collated albumen photographs documenting the Egyptian Army. Although not all the photographs are signed it can be suggested with confidence that they were all photographed by G. Lekegian. Starting with a studio portrait of the Khedive `Abbas Hilmi II the photographer covers themes like: military uniforms, ranks, artillery and battalions either photographed in the studio, military barracks or even staged in the desert. No particular sequence was respected in the compilation of the album.
Size: 310 x 445 mm
Binding: The bound album is covered by a wood front plaque inlaid with silver pharaonic motifs of a horus at the top, two cartouches of pseudohieroglyphics at the centre, flanked by a sphinx and a lion. The first cartouch does not read Abbas while the second is composed of 99999 and nnnnnnn. Two lotus flowers are within the wood inlaid outerframe. The binding is held together with three metal screws and each sheet is composed of three divisions to fold easily. The satin padding of the front cover is detached and the back cover, presumably also in wood, is missing. All the albumen photographs which measure 250 x180 mm are collated on light blue fibred paper with preprinted red frame. The detached photographs are nos. HIL/29/30, 31/32, 33/34, 35/36, 37/38. Original librarian's note on the stain reads: No. 2132 Ar. 13 Etag 3.130.

In imitation of 19th century European lithographs and painting, the borders of the photograph are intentionally faded to highlight the subject in an oval centre.

Close up of stone buildings in an unidentified town between Assiut and Girgheh. Having the Greek and Egyptian flags on its façade, the building could be the Greek consulate in Assiut. An arcaded fence, crowned by Egypt's emblems represented by the crescent and the stars, fronts the buildings to welcome the Khedive's arrival. In the foreground, local men and women stand in groups. In imitation of 19th century European lithographs and paintings, the borders of the photograph are intentionally faded to highlight the subject in an oval centre.

Crowds of local people gathered to welcome the arrival of the Khedive at either end of a stairway leading from his yacht to a ceremonial arch on the shore of an unidentified town between Assiut and Girgheh. In imitation of 19th century European lithographs and paintings, the borders of the photograph are intentionally faded to highlight the subject in an oval centre.

Wooden arches of a secluded area specially built for the reception of the Khedive within the courtyard of a mosque, or a plaza adjoining it (see also HIL/342/14). The Arabic text on a side panel reads: Long live our Sovereign Abbas Pacha / Ya`ish Afandina Abbas Pacha / يعيش أفندينا عياس باشا. Local people are gathered in the courtyard while Egyptian flags are flying throughout. In imitation of 19th century European lithographs and paintings, the borders of the photograph are intentionally faded to highlight the subject in an oval centre.

Egypt's throne in a quilt tent (khiyamiya/siwan) with chairs around the edge for members of the official delegation to be seated according to Egyptian protocol. On the tent's walls, above the level of the throne are cartouches of Arabic calligraphy containing praise and poetry to the Khedive (عياس باشا حللت سهلا). The tent is equipped with Ottoman style chandeliers.

Album of 20 collated matt black and white photographs (290 x 237 mm) by Donald S. George (1861-1944) illustrating the heightening of the Aswan Dam, 1907-1912, presented to the Khedive `Abbas Hilmi II to commemorate the inauguration of the dam, 23 December 1912. Photographs of a Hajj, including Mecca, the Hijaz railway and forts. Album of 166 collated black and white photographs of an official Egyptian delegation pilgrimage to Mecca and Medina Munawara in 1327AH/1909AD by an unknown photographer. At the head of the Egyptian delegation was Prince Ahmed Fouad (later King Fouad). The sequentially arranged photographs start from the departure point at the Suez harbour, and trace the overland desert crossing in Arabia, then the arrival at the port of Jeddah, and a spectacular non-extant view of Mecca before the renovation works in the last quarter of the twentieth century. There are many photographs of non extant architectural buildings in Hijaz, Medina and Mecca; the encampments of the Egyptian delegation on the road, the Holy Carpet carriage mahmal and the meeting of other heads of states including the chief of the Ottoman Empire's pilgrimage delegation and the Emir of Mecca and Hijaz. The trains on which the Egyptian delegation travelled are also extensively documented as well as the small railway station of Ma'an with which the photographer terminates his assignment and album.

HIL/335/1-204  1909 (1327 AH)
Photographs of a Hajj, including Mecca, the Hijaz railway and forts.
Album of 204 collated black and white photographs of an official Egyptian delegation pilgrimage to Mecca and Medina Munawara in 1327AH/1909AD by an unknown photographer. At the head of the Egyptian delegation was Prince Ahmed Fouad (later King Fouad). The sequentially arranged photographs start from the departure point at the Suez harbour, and trace the overland desert crossing in Arabia, then the arrival at the port of Jeddah, and a spectacular non-extant view of Mecca before the renovation works in the last quarter of the twentieth century. There are many photographs of non extant architectural buildings in Hijaz, Medina and Mecca; the encampments of the Egyptian delegation on the road, the Holy Carpet carriage mahmal and the meeting of other heads of states including the chief of the Ottoman Empire's pilgrimage delegation and the Emir of Mecca and Hijaz. The trains on which the Egyptian delegation travelled are also extensively documented as well as the small railway station of Ma'an with which the photographer terminates his assignment and album.
Album HIL/328 contains many duplicates of prints in this album, though often with different exposures or cropping. Cross-references are provided at item level.

The school had its own shop which sold its products in order to offset its expenses. The school was later merged with the Fouad I University (now Cairo). HIL/339/1-146  1897 Album of 146 albumen collated photographs, some with lustre shine, of variable sizes. The photographs are of amateur quality, none of them is signed and many are out of focus. In addition, there are many similar photographs of the same topics which might indicate that the photographer took several shots of the same subject. The logic of the arrangement of the pictures in the album is completely random. No particular sequence of events is followed nor are similar items are put next to each other. Furthermore, in a few cases, photographs on the same page are positioned in opposite orientation. On a few pages at the beginning of the album, traces of pencil lines are found in an attempt to align photographs. The overall orientation of the album is Arabic (i.e. right to left) and some captions written in Arabic are found under the photographs on the first few pages. Those suggest that most, if not all, of the photographs were taken at a location called al-Montaza at Ismailia (not to be confused with the palatial gardens of Montaza at Alexandria founded by ʿAbbas Hilmi II). However, it is worth noting that the set of 12 photographs dated 14 March 1897 are of superior quality to the rest.

Size: 260 x 385 mm

Binding: The album is bound by a dark brown leather cover with no title on it. The inside front and back covers are covered with a patterned burgundy sheet. On the upper top of the inside front cover is a small label, probably of the Khedivial library, with the following information: No. 2116 Arm 13 Etag. 3. 113.

HIL/336/1-25  [ca. 1930s-1940s]

Album of 25 sepia toned glossy photographs of pastel or crayon drawings of Ottoman steamships by Qawllry or Mawllay Haqqi and photographed by Ottoman navy studios and printshops: مطبعة بحرية فطوغرافخانة س at the bottom of each photograph as labelled in Old Ottoman script on the mounting cardboard. With the album is a letterhead from Prince Omar Tousoun in 1943 (HIL/336/1) who borrowed the album from Crown Prince Muhammad `Ali Tawfiq (brother of Khedive ‘Abbas Hilmi) to consult it and clarified, in his attached reply, three comments concerning the Wapur Sultaniya (HIL/336/9), Athar Tewfik (HIL/336/15) and Athar Shawkat (HIL/336/19). It is worth noting that the pages were not numbered and when they got detached from the original binding the original sequence was disrupted. Only the locations of the above photographs can be figured out based on the note sent by Prince Omar Toussun. The drawings were probably made in the 1870s and the photographs taken in the 1930s or 1940s.

Size: 225 x 320 mm

Binding: Brown leather album bound with two screws and impressed with the Ottoman emblem Nisani incrusted vertically on the cover. All inside pages are completely detached and thus not in the original order. The inner cover is of a commercial flower pattern and at the top right corner of the first page is a small label, probably of the Khedivial library, with the following information: No. 2119 Arm 13 Etag. 3. 116. All the photographs measure 145 x 230 mm. The cardboard on which the photographs are glued is preprinted with a double lined frame.
