Introduction

Collection title: Durham Cathedral Archive, medieval accounts: manors, mines, proctors of churches and subsidiary

Reference code: GB-0033-DCD (subdivision given under each category)

Dates of creation: 13th - 16th century

Extent: given under each category

Repository: Durham University Library, Archives and Special Collections

Creator: accounting records made by officials responsible to the monastery at Durham

Language of material: Latin

The large group of medieval accounts was previously listed in a single catalogue, but as more detail is added it has expanded and has been divided into three catalogues (December 2017) as follows:

Obedientiaries (office holders)

Manors, mines, proctors of churches and subsidiary accounts (this catalogue)

Cells of Durham Priory

Contents

With one significant exception the three lists of medieval accounts aim to cover all the medieval accounting material found in the Durham Cathedral Archive, together with items from the series of accounts that has been found elsewhere. The exception is material relating to the collection of taxation, briefly listed below: for this to be dealt with properly will require examination of the corresponding material in The National Archives.

In the lists that follow all items without further description are accounts. Entries in italics (without a DCD reference number) are cross-references to items within other series of the Durham Cathedral Archive or elsewhere. For all other accounting material a brief indication of its nature is given, in terms that match those used in the reference to the document, e.g. Bursar, Sale of Tithes. The dates covered by each item are given as fully as possible, and where these are not taken directly from the heading, either because it is lost or damaged, or because it does not give full details, this is shown by square brackets, [ ]. Where more than one version of a document occurs it is marked within the description by a series of letters (A), (B) etc. On a few occasions there are two different documents of the same type in the same year, which have separate entries, such as Status, 1328 (A) and Status, 1328 (B) - where these have separate entries they are different documents, where included under the same heading they are duplicates.

Accession details

Transferred into the custody of the university by the Dean and Chapter of Durham in 1947.

Copyright and copying

Permission to make any published use of material from the collection must be sought in advance from Durham Cathedral Library (library@durhamcathedral.co.uk). The Library will assist where possible with identifying copyright owners, but responsibility for ensuring copyright clearance rests with the user of the material.

Form of citation

The short form of citation is given within the list following, including the overall collection code (DCD) with the class code (e.g. Ter. acs) joined to it by a hyphen, followed by a date and qualified by the type of document when not a standard account, for examples:

DCD-Pitt. acs 1379-80

DCD-Ket. acs Memoranda 1377-8

A full citation of an item within the collection takes the form:

Durham Cathedral Archive: medieval accounts: class namedate

For example:

Durham Cathedral Archive: medieval accounts: Pittington 1379-80

To order items in the searchroom, use the short form of citation as shown above and within the list.

Abbreviations

An indication is given where documents have been printed, extracted or mentioned. Where this is followed by a number, this refers to a volume of the Surtees Society:18: J. Raine ed., The Durham Household Book; ... (1844).

29: J. Raine ed., The Inventories and Account Rolls of the Benedictine Houses or Cells of Jarrow and Monk-Wearmouth, ... (1854).

99: J.T. Fowler ed., Extracts from the Account Rolls of the Abbey of Durham i (1898).

100: J.T. Fowler ed., Extracts from the Account Rolls of the Abbey of Durham ii (1899).

103: J.T. Fowler ed., Extracts from the Account Rolls of the Abbey of Durham iii (1901).

In a number of cases the indication refers to more than one place in Volumes 99, 100 and 103; this arises when separated pieces of the same account have been rejoined.

For Lytham the references "CS" are to:

H. Fishwick ed., The History of the Parish of Lytham ..., Chetham Society 60 (1907).

For Oxford "OHS" refers to:

Durham Cathedral Library MS B.I.28

ff.1-2. Houghall manor account: [c.29 Sept.] 1348 - [c.29 Sept.] 1349 (two pieces)

... [c. Michaelmas] ...8 - same feast 1349

... [Gilbert Ferande]

Two pieces of parchment, ff. 2r and 1v being the face, with the whole of the Cash account and first section of grain account. A strip from the foot is missing, but the amount missing is negligible as all sub-totals are present.

The approximate opening date of the account is indicated by the liveries of wheat to carters and ploughmen over a period of 42 weeks, starting Sunday after Michaelmas

Identity of manor and serviens is from first cash section where there is a livery of £6 from John of Newton, the bursar. His account for 1349 records such a payment to three manors, naming the serviens in each case: Dalton ('duas tallias'), Houghall and Pittington ('unam talliam' each). Pittington is excluded by entries on f. 2v for a livery of barley to Pittington and one of beans and peas from there.

ff. 157-158. 29 Sept. 1348 - 29 Sept 1349 (two pieces)

... [Michael] archangel 1348 - same feast ..49

John son of Robert de Hetheworth

Two pieces of parchment, ff. 158 and 157v being the face, with a strip containing the end of the Cash Account missing from the foot.. approximately one line is missing between the two pieces: the entries for peas and beans on f. 158v seem sufficient to account for the total on f. 157r, with the last words of the final entry lost.

f.159 and [?] f.2* Pittington manor account: [4 Oct. 1349 - c.14 Jan. 1350] (frag[s ?])

... [4 October 1349 - c. 14 January 1350]

... [John del Wra]

f. 2* is a narrow vertical strip that may have been part of this account. f. 159v contains the end of the cash account and beginning of grain account; f. 159r the end of the stock accounts.

Manor readily identifiable from places mentioned as sources of tithes

Balance of cash account indicates accountant responsible was followed by '... .ayles'. The Bursar's account for 11 November 1349 - 11 November 1350 records two liveries to Pittington, one to John del Wra, the other to John del Sayles. entries for liveries of wheat provide evidence for precise dating. One refers to a period of 6 weeks ending Sunday after Martin; in 1349 - Sunday 4 October - 15 November. Another entry refers to period from start of account to the Sunday after closure as 15 weeks, showing account opened on a Sunday; that period was as deduced is substantially supported by a further entry reading 'Sunday after Martin - 17 ...'.

Durham Cathedral MS B.II.35

Inventory of relics, 1383

Durham Cathedral MS B.IV.36

ff. 1-2 and 196 Billingham manor estate: [11 Nov. 1341 - 29 Sept. 1342] (frags)

... [11 November 1341 - 29 September 1342]

... [John Mareschall]

Four separate pieces of parchment used as flyleaves; f. 1 is formed by a later blank leaf to which two separate pieces, each blank on one side, have been stuck, one to the recto the other to the verso. The pieces comprise: f. 196r, Cash Expenses sections for ironwork and various expenses; f. 2v, finalCash Expenses sections and total; f. 1v Works account; f. 1r, beginning of grain account; f. 196v, Grain Accounts for [barley?], oats, and [malt?]; f. 2r, Stock Accounts.

Unless these pieces are from a roll of Enrolled Manorial Accounts, the latest of which now extant is for 1325-6, f. 196 back and front are from a single manorial account, as are f. 2 back and front. On such accounts written, as here, from the same end on both sides, the grain account would normally start at the top of the dorse, but here f. 1r is blank on the other side. Although f. 196 rv is clearly in another hand from the other pieces, all may be parts of the same account (there are three hands in the account for Billingham 1339-40.

Three of the pieces bear clear evidence that they are from a Billingham account: Billingham tenants are the source of the bulk of the works on f. 1v, while the Billingham tithes are the responsibility of the accountant on ff. 1r and 2v. For f. 196 there is an entry on f. 196r that mentions Billingham, probably in connection with pasture for stock, while the eighteen oxen fed on f. 196v accord with the numbers given in the oxen account on f. 2r

The date of f. 196 can be securely established. The Granator is named as [William of] Stapleton; he succeeded Robert of Benton between 29 September 1340 and 11 November 1341 (Bearpark Account 1340-1), and was in turn succeeded by William of Goldsbrough (Misc.Ch. 5831). Expenses of oats refer to Dunstan's day as Sunday, and the vigil of Barnabas as Monday; between 1340 and 1344 19 May and 10 June fell on these days in 1342. From the same section it is clear that the account opened at Martinmas at the latest and so covers 1341-2.

Substantial evidence points to the same date for the other pieces. Like f. 196v, f. 2v refers to the Terrar as William of Charlton, also to the Bursar as Robert of Benton, who accounted as such from c. 12 May 1341, and to the Prior's Chaplain as Richard of Bickerton, who became Almoner on 1 November 1345 (Almoner's Account 1345). The numbers of stock given at beginning and end of account do not match those given on the Billingham account for 28 September 1343 - 26 September 1344, showing that this account does not immediately precede or follow that account. The entry for Richard of Tynemouth's expenses accords with the entry on the Bursar's Accounts for 1341-2, indicating that he was at Bewley for his health; by January 1343 he was at Finchale (3.6.Pont.4)

The name of the serviens is given in an entry in the wheat account, f. 1r, which also gives the time covered by the account as 46 weeks. This is exactly the period between Martinmas in one year and Michaelmas in the next; support for taking this to be the period covered here comes from the Bearpark Account that covers the period Martinmas 1341 - Michaelmas 1342, and also the 1340-1 accounts for Pitlington and Westoe, which both closed at Martinmas 1341.

Durham Cathedral MS C.III.4

ff. 2 and 233 Bursar's Arrears and debts, [Summer 1308, from c. 1290 onwards]:
... [Arrears from c.1290 - summer 1308, outstanding summer 1308]

An indenture listing arrears and debts due to the Bursar was apparently cut up to form the front and back pastedowns and fly-leaves of this book, with f.2r following below f.233r after a small gap, and, as the dorse, f.2v below f.233v. Text was cut away along each edge and the main heading is lost, together with the headings to the first sections of the list. Each of the surviving columns seems to cover about four half-year terms, with little lost at the top, suggesting that the Pentecost term 1290 headed the column that survives in part on the left edge, and it is likely that this was the first column since the end of the list is found at this point on the other side of the parchment; the last term covered is the half-year running from Martinmas 1307, followed by the list of debts. The date of the indenture, the date on which the arrears listed were outstanding, cannot be earlier than the end of the last term covered, in early summer 1308, but it does not appear to be much later, as the total differs from the totals of the "magnum cyrograffum" at Martinmas 1308, 1309 and 1310 [Bursars Accounts 1308-9 (B), 1309-10]; a possible date would be between 10.viii.1308 and 26.x.1308 when the Bursar's office changed hands [Misc.Ch.5051<sup>1</sup>; Misc.Ch.4612].

DCD-Enr. man. acs 1296-7 [1296-7?]

Two membranes from the middle of a roll. The placing of an endorsement c.1500 at the head of the first membrane indicates that no membranes remained above then. The water-damage that completely obscures parts of the roll may have happened by then: the endorsement refers only to the manors of Bewley and Billingham, which are those covered by the one heading now readily legible. The endorsement gives the date as '1306'. Whether more could be read when it was made or not, this date clearly does not apply to all the accounts on the roll: the Bewley and Billingham account here does not duplicate the details found in the two Billingham accounts on Enrolled Manors 1305-6 that cover the period 3 October 1305 - 2 October 1306 nor does it take up the stock given as remaining on the later of those two accounts. Further evidence against a dating 1306 - 1307 for the Bewley and Billingham account here is the entry in the Bewley expenses 'per preceptum domini Prioris': by early October 1306 Prior Hoton was on his way to pursue his case against Bishop Bek in the Curia where he died in January 1308.

No evidence has been found for a firm dating of the roll. An entry in the Capons section of the Bewley and Billingham account refers to expenses 'domini Willelmi de Gretham bursarii et terrarii' but it is doubtful whether this indicates office held by William: no other reference has been found to him holding either of them, and a similarly phrased entry in the Geese section refers to expenses 'domini Prioris bursarii et terrarii'. William became a monk shortly before Thomas of Haswell, Bursar 1297 - 1299, and last occurs in 1321, as Prior of Coldingham, an office that he held in 1305, and then again from 1313 onwards, see Liber Vitae f. 59v, Loc.XIII:3c, Loc.VII:6, Reg. II f. 13v.

The dating formula for the Pitlington dairy account may offer a means of identifying possible dates within the period covered by William of Greatham's career: it refers to the period of the account, from Sunday before Dunstan - vigil of Assumption, as 13 weeks 4 days. If this is taken to mean that the closing date, 14 August, fell on a Wednesday, possible years are 1297, 1303, 1308 and 1314. It is clear that the Bewley and Billingham account here is not for 1302-3: its details do not duplicate those in the Bewley account 1302-3 on Enrolled Manors 1299-1303. Of the other possible years the earliest, 1297, seems preferable, since both the script and the forms are less developed than those found on subsequent enrolments of manorial and stock accounts. Moreover, it is possible that the date '1306' added on the dorse c.1500 arose from reading '...xcvj' as '.cccvj'.

Rainton 1301-2 [Cash & Grain]

... [c. Michaelmas 1301] - same feast '302

W[illiam] de Langeley

The Account is taken to be for Rainton by association with the two stock accounts that follow, supported by the fact that the Rainton Accounts for 1299-1300 and 1302-3, Enrolled Manors 1299-1303, mm 3 face and 1-2 dorse, have the same accountant, named in full on the latter. The Account appears to cover one year only and the opening date is taken to be the same that of the second stock account that follow it does not take up the balance of the Rainton Account 1299-1300 closed on 25 September 1300.

Rainton 1300-1 (Stock)

- [25 September] '300 - - [29 September] '301

The place and the opening day seem to be established by the fact that this Account takes up the stock given as remaining on the Rainton Account closed on this day, Enrolled Manors 1299-1303 m 3 face. The closing date is established from the fact that the stock remaining on this Account seems to be taken up on the Account opened on this day, which follows immediately.

The Account appears to cover about one year and mention is made of payment for the Pentecost term '302, making the opening year 1301. The next Wardley Account opened at Martinmas 1302, Enrolled Manors 1299-1303 m 5 dorse, and so this Account presumably does not go beyond that date, but probably runs up to it, given that the accountants are the same. Accountant's forname supplied from Wardley Accounts 1299-1300 and 1302-3, Enrolled Manors 1299-1303 mm 2 face and 5 dorse.

The closing date is not at all clear. The alternatives are then 29 September, the closing date of the Cash Account for Houghall, and 9 October, the closing date of the Grain & Stock Account for Bearpark & Houghall below. The place is established from a livery of wheat to Dalton: although a similar quantity of wheat was received on the Dalton Account 1309-10, m 2 face below, from Billingham, Belasis and Westoe, Westoe is eliminated by the fact that the Westoe Account 1309-10 is found m 3 face below, and Belasis by the fact that this Account records oats received from the accountant there, leaving Billingham. The Account appears to be for a year, to Judge by payments to ploughmen and carters, and they received liveries of wheat for the year from Sunday after Exaltation of Cross, 21 September, '9 to the same day, 20 September, '10, but confusion is created by the payment to the accountant from All Saints, 1 November, to Sunday after Michaelmas, 4 October. The later closing date would be more in accord with the other accounts on this roll.

[c.Michaelmas - c.Michaelmas], unless headed otherwise

Most of the accounts enrolled here do not have headings giving their dates. The roll for the following year, Enrolled Manors 1320-1, is similar, but has a heading at the top stating the period of the accounts in general, with those that diverge individually dated below. Presumably this roll once had such a heading.

The approximate closing date of the undated accounts here is established from the fact that the stock remaining on the Dalton Account, m 4 below, is taken up in the Dalton Account opened at Michaelmas 1320, Enrolled Manors 1320-1 mm 2-3 face. The opening date is calculated from numbers of liveries to ploughmen etc. that show that the unheaded accounts covered one year. The opening and closing dates remain imprecise because the evidence for the closing date given above diverges from the evidence of liveries at Dalton, m 4 below, which indicate a year running from one Sunday after Michaelmas to the next. The original heading may still, however, have given the terminal dates as Michaelmas: there is an instance of precisely the same divergenc, in the Billingham Account 1320-1, Enrolled Manors 1320-1 m. 3 face

These dates are given in the heading to the roll and are taken to apply to all the accounts on the roll, except the one individually dated. How precisely the dates apply to each account is open to some question since the liveries of wheat on the Billingham Account, m 3 face below, were clearly for the period from one Sunday after Michaelmas to the next, and also since the closing date of the only account separately dated was Sunday after Michaelmas, m 2 dorset below.

None of the accounts enrolled here appear to have had headings giving their dates. None of them is clearly for a period less than a year, and it seems likely that the roll once had a heading giving the period and applying to each account, like Enrolled Manors 1320-1.

The approximate closing date is established from the fact that the stock remaining on the Westoe Account, mm 1-2 below, is taken up on the Westoe Account opened c. Michaelmas 1323, Enrolled Manors 1323-4 mm 3-4 dorse; likewise with the parallel Pittington Accounts. The opening date calculated from numbers of liveries of wheat to ploughmen etc. that indicate that they were made from c.Michaelmas, although there is a variation between Sunday before Michaelmas, e.g. Dalton, and Sunday after Michaelmas, e.g. Bewley, both m. 4.

The place and accountant's first name appear in the Accounts for Wardley, Pittington and Dalton, mm 2, 3 and 4 below, as a result of the liveries of beans on this Account. The Westoe Account 1324-5, Enrolled Manors 1324-5 m 3 face, has an accountant with the same first name, and his second name given. See note to beginning of roll, above, for the closing date. As this Account lacks its wheat section the clearest indication of the opening date is provender of oats starting at All Saints, 1 November.

Most of the accounts enrolled here have no heading giving the date. None of these is clearly for a period less than a year, and it seems that the roll once had a heading giving the period and applying to all but the separately dated accounts, like Enrolled Manors 1320-1.

The approximate closing date is established from the fact that the stock remaining on the Westoe Account, mm 3-4 dorse, is taken up on the Westoe Account opened at Michaelmas 1324, Enrolled Manors 1324-5 mm 3-4 face. The opening date is calculated from numbers of liveries of wheat to ploughmen etc. starting c.Michaelmas, although most are dated Sunday after Michaelmas some a week later, see below.

It seems unlikely that this Account extends beyond the limit of the Accounts on this roll which cover a full year, but the liveries of grain do run to the second Sunday after Michaelmas although this may arise from the convenience of having a nine-week period, calculations of the amount due being based on a period of three weeks.

The liveries of wheat are illegible and so this Account cannot be shown to cover a full year. As it is not followed by an account for Bewley for the latter part of the year, it presumably covers the period up to c.Michaelmas 1324, cf Houghall Accounts, mm 3-4 face; it also cover the provender of oats for draught animals, generally made available during the winter only.

The approximate opening date is indicated by liveries of wheat that start on Sunday after Annunciation, although the fact that these only extend for 26 weeks to the Sunday of Michaelmas itself, and not to the next Sunday, and also that the period of the Account is stated as 26 weeks, does throw some doubt on the precise dates, even as given in the heading.

The place seems to be indicated by the sowing of a Billingham bondland with oats, and this is supported by the name of the accountant who handed over at the beginning of this Account: John de Seham, for he was one accountant at Billingham 1323-4, Enrolled Manors 1323-4 m 4 face. The fact of this Account being on this roll is taken to indicate the year. One livery of wheat covers the 24 weeks from Tiburtius & Valerianus, i.e. to Michaelmas. The period of the Account is given as 26 weeks 4 days, which counting back from Michaelmas, would start 2 March, although a date 7 days earlier does seem likely since several of the accounts on this were opened then following a general movement of accountants.

This Account includes a livery of peas to Belasis, and the corresponding entry in the Belasis Account, m 5 dorse, indicates the place and gives most of the accountant's name, the rest of which appears in the Bewley Account under oxen, m 3 dorse. The loss of the wheat section makes it difficult to establish the approximate dates the Account. DCD-Stkpr acs Memoranda, 1337-8 Memoranda, 1337-8
Virtually all the material on this file of four membranes is concerned with sheep and wool, and in particular with shearing in 1338. the period covered extends to a year at least: an entry on m. 3 concerns the Instaurer's expenses 'per annum'. Another entry on m. 3 concerns stipends for the Pentecost and Martinmas terms, but marked to show the order of the terms should be read as Martinmas and Pentecost, the order found on the Stock-keeper's account for Pentecost 1338 - Pentecost 1339. This, with the other evidence, suggests that the memoranda refer to the period Pentecost 1337 - Pentecost 1338.

General heading. The last word of the date that can now be read is 'Decimo', after which the surface of the parchment has gone; whether it was possible to be sure that nothing was written after 'Decimo' when the label of c. 1850 reading '1310' was written is doubtful. No evidence has been identified on the roll to serve as a means of more precise dating. The items enrolled here are more akin to inventories than accounts, many sections start 'Sunt ibidem', but transfers, past and future, of stock between accountants are recorded.

General heading. Many sections in the accounts on this roll start by taking up remaining stock 'anni preteriti', confirming that the accounts run up to, rather than start at, shearing 1340. The period covered by the accounts is indicated by the fact that young stock are said to advance in age by a year. A date for shearing, 26 May, is given in Stock-keeper's Memoranda 1337-8, and the feast of Augustine, 26 May, was used as the terminal date in the headings on the Enrolled Livestock Accounts for 1349-50, 1350-1 and 1351-2.

General heading. The evidence for interpreting the heading is the same as that for the roll for 1339-40. Some at least of the accounts on this roll follow on immediately from those on the roll for 1339-40, since they start by taking up the numbers of stock given as remaining at the end of accounts on the roll for 1339-40; why there should be some other accounts here, such as Ketton, in which this does not apparently happen is not clear.

No indication of place is given. Entries for transfers of cattle between Bearpark and Muggleswick found in the Bearpark account below match entries in this account.

Waskerleyhead (stirks)

William Cutt es

In the Muggleswick account above entries for transfers of cattle refer to William Cuttes as 'bovarius'. The single section concerns younger stirks; other categories of cattle were perhaps in the hands of the following accountant, see below.

? Waskerleyhead

(cattle) John Walkere

This account has no marginal heading giving the place. It follows the Waskerleyhead account above with less of a gap than is found between accounts for different places on the roll, and it is complementary to the preceding account, having three sections, for bulls, stots and older stirks. Before the account was closed John Walkere appears to have handed over all that remained in his care to Roger del Heued bovarius of Waskerley, who was perhaps his successor in office.

Still Muggleswick

The 'Adhuc' is inexplicable in terms of the accounts at the foot of the face of either membrane of this roll; it was rightly used in this position on the roll for 1339-40.

Goldhill

Adam bercarius

It is clear that the account refers to this dependency of Muggleswick from the fact that takes up the number of muttuns remaining on the Goldhill account on the roll for 1339-40.

Muggleswick

John Mayessone bercarius

This account follows the preceding account without any gap left, and with no marginal heading giving the place. It clearly refers to Muggleswick from the fact that it takes up the number of muttuns remaining on the Muggleswic] account on the roll for 1339-40.

The only account with a dated heading is the last account, the cash account produced by the Terrar as stock-keeper. The sales of stock entered in that account can be traced in the preceding accounts, confirming that they belong to the same approximate period; most notably this is the case with 14 cows and 8 calves from Muggleswick sold for 62s. 6d., and one cow from Bearpark, showing that the first two membranes belong with the rest of the roll. Matching entries for movements of stock between Bearpark and Muggleswick provide further corroboration that the first two membra belong together.

This single membrane from a longer roll contain no dated account. Matching entries in the sheep accounts recording the transfer of stock from one accountant to another show that the accounts are for the same approximate period, which covered one year, from one shearing to the next; the first section of the cattle account refers to the stock advancing in age by one year during the account. The numbers of stock taken up at the beginning the accounts for Muggleswick, Belasis (from Holme) and Pittington match those remaining at the close of the accounts on the roll for 1342 - 1343, which includes a cash account closed on 24 June 1343.

The first three of the four sections take up the numbers given as remaining on the account for Muggleswick on the roll for 1342 - 1343. On that roll there is no section corresponding to the fourth here, for last year's calves, but there nothing to suggest that it does not belong with the preceding sections, and it, like them, refers to a livery to Bearpark. This single membrane is partly defaced by the effects of damp. It comprises three accounts: horses, cattle, horses. In sunlight the marginal heading of the third appears to read 'Equiciu m... .eure par de anno dni . CCC xlviJ<sup>o</sup>'; an endorsement of c. 1500 reads '1346', and may have been made before the heading was obliterated. References to monastic office-holders support these dates: the Hostiller is named as Robert of Hexham, who accounted as such 1344-1348; of the two Bursars named Robert of Benton left office between November 1345 and December 1346, and Thomas of Stockton, the other named, took office during that period; John of Barnby, named as Prior of Finchale in a deleted entry, left office on 3 June 1346. This support evidence does not, however, exclude a dating of 1345 - 1346.

This roll, like those for 1350-1 and 1351-2, begins with two cattle accounts. The second is headed as concerning cattle dispersed around manors. The first has no heading but concerns a unitary stock-raising operation, evidently based at Muggleswick and neighbouring Waskerley. The cash accounts on the two earlier rolls record sales of cows from Bearpark, but there are no corresponding entries in the cattle accounts.

DCD-Enr. Istk. acs 1371-2 1371-2

Three rolls, apparently originally forming a single file, to judge by the corresponding pairs of holes at the head of each roll, through which a filing thong could have passed. The rolls were probably separate by the early sixteenth century, when Thomas Swalwell endorsed each of them '1371'. Each roll has a heading. On both (ii) and (iii) this begins 'Adhuc', showing that they continued from a preceding roll, and on (iii) the heading in summary form, while on (ii) it is unfinished; the full general heading is on (i), followed quite closely by the cover attached to (iii), and by the one dated heading to an individual account, on (i). There is no reason for thinking that the general heading does not apply to all the other accounts; there are entries corresponding to the liveries of stock entered in Thomas Jonesson's account on (ii), in John Amisson's account on (i) and Ralph Jolibody's on (iii).

DCD-Enr. Istk. acs 1380-1 1380-1

Four rolls, apparently originally forming a single file, to judge by the corresponding pairs of holes at the head of each roll, through which a filing thong could have passed. The rolls were probably separate by the early sixteenth century, when Thomas Swalwell added a different date on the dorse of each of them: '1380' on (i), '1381' on (ii), '1382' on (iii), and '1383' on (iv). In doing this doubtless he followed the headings on two of the rolls: 'Augustine ... 80 - same feast 81' on (i), and 'Augustine 1381 - Katherine [25 November] following' on (ii). The basis for his dating of (iii) and (iv) is not clear; both are headed 'Adhuc', indicating that they continued from preceding rolls, and (iii) has an uncompleted heading ending 'A festo sancti', while the last account on (iv) is headed 'Augustine 1380 - same feast following'. Although there are twenty-one separate accounts no two accounts cover the same category of stock at the same place, and so there is no prima facie evidence that the accounts cover entirely different periods. In fact there is clear evidence that accounts on each roll cover at least part of a single period: movements of animals between one centre and another recorded in an account on one roll can be traced in a number of cases in the account for the other centre involved on one of the other rolls. Thus the movements of muttons recorded in the Merrington account on roll (iv) are matched by corresponding entries in the accounts for Westgate and Birkhouse on roll (i), and for Ketton on roll (iii), and also in the dated Houghall account on roll (iv) itself; similarly movements of cows entered in the Ketton account roll (iii) are matched by entries in the accounts for Waskerley and Muggleswick on roll (ii), and Overdeyhouse on roll (i). On the other hand there are also cases where movements do not match in this way: the movement of lambs in the Merrington account on roll (iv) do not match exactly the accounts for Westoe and Pitlington on roll (i), and the account of the stirketarius at Relley on roll (i) ends with a livery of the whole stock to Hugh Sadeler at Muggleswick, while the corresponding Muggleswick account on roll (ii) indicates that Hugh only took over when that account closed. This is especially significant since the heading on roll (ii) dates the roll to a period starting on the closing date given in the heading of roll (i), exactly contrary to the evidence of the Relley - Muggleswick transaction. The heading, Augustine - Katherine 1381, on roll (ii) is the only piece of evidence against dating all four rolls from the heading on roll (i), Augustine 1380 - Augustine 1381. Accounts on roll (ii) do not support its heading: the stirketarius at Muggleswick received a stipend of 5s. 'pro toto anno', the same sum as other accountants on this roll, while half that amount was paid by the vaccarius at Waskerley to one man keeping the stock at Bearpark 'tempore hiemali', neither an appropriate amount nor description for the period up to 25 November and no further. This Waskerley account comes immediately below the heading, and so it seems that the heading cannot even be taken to apply to that one account. Instead the heading is evidently erroneous, and the accounts on roll (ii) cover approximately the same year as those on the other rolls. Whether this was exactly the period indicated in the heading on roll (i) has not been established, but it is shown to be approximately correct by several references to Thomas Legat as cellarer and one, at Relley on roll (i) to Thomas Lega Launcells as cellarer: Launcells left office between Michaelmas 1379 and Michaelmas 1380, when Legat took office.

General heading. The headings to most of the accounts that follow specify the opening and closing dates, ten extending to April or May 1391. For the first two of the three accounts without dated headings, those of Walter Todd and John Dobinson, the dating provided by the general heading can be adopted, but not for the third, that of William Crolk, see below. Four accounts use the feast of Helen as a terminal date. This is taken to mean, entirely appropriately, the Invention of the Cross on 3 May, used for other accounts here, rather than her day on 18 August, a month in which such accounts were not normally opened or closed; clear evidence for this usage is found on Enrolled Livestock Accounts: Horses, 1388-91.

The two accounts cover the same categories of stock. In neither is the location given, nor in entries in other accounts for transfers of stock entered in these accounts. The first account on the roll refers to William Patonson as stottarius at Wardley, while both these accounts show him closely involved with Richard Souter, whose account at Wardley is the last on this roll.

Eight weeks after Pentecost - Martin [c.1 August ? - 11 November 1400]

John Wethirhard hoggettarius at Houghall

The opening date reads 'per te a feste a festo Pentecostes post per viij septimanas vsque ...'. The first attempt simply follows the wording the previous accounts, 'per tempus predictum' The interpretation of what now stands is adopted because the account cannot cover as little as eight weeks, nor can the period between Pentecost whenever it falls, and Martin amount to either eighteen or twenty-eight weeks. The year is not given. The number of lambs received from Westoe is the same as that entered below in the Westoe account closed at 11 November 1400, but earlier accounts suggest that this may not have varied from one year to the next; more significant is the reference to lambs consumed by the royal household, most readily explained in the context of Henry IV's expedition to Scotland in August 1400. The one difficulty in dating this Account to 1400 is that it makes the immediately following account on the roll cover a period later than any other account on the roll.

[11 November 1400 ? - ]

John Hobson bercarius at Houghall

This Account takes up the stock from the immediately preceding account, closed on 11 November, which appears to be dateable to 1400. If this is correct, this Account is later than any other on the roll; there is nothing to show what period it covered.

Only the heading of the first account gives the year; the other headings refer back to it with a phrase such as 'Anno domini etc supradicto', which is not to be taken at its face value. It clear that it means "in the twelve-month period of the above account", rather than "in 1417": William Gybson's account must cover part of the same period as John Spynke's, for they have matching entries for a livery of stock, and William Cockefeld clearly accounted after, rather than before, Thomas del Wrea at the Westgate, although their accounts were enrolled in the wrong order chronologically.
