Repository: Durham University Library, Archives and Special Collections

Creator: The Registrar of the Church of England diocese of Durham (records created by surrogates to the bishop of Durham's chancellor)

Language of material: English

Documents within this series

The following documents typically survive among these marriage licence records:

Allegations	Affidavits or sworn statements, known as 'allegations', in which one party (the 'deponent', normally but not necessarily the groom) swears that there is no impediment to their marriage, setting out the details of the marriage in front of a 'surrogate' for the bishop's Chancellor. The surrogates were senior clergymen in different parts of the diocese, appointed to take oaths for marriage licences within their area. Allegations survive only from 1738.
Bonds	Until 1823, a bond was also required, committing the deponent of the allegation to pay a sum of money as additional security for the allegation. The bond may be a separate document, or may be written out on the back of the allegation. An additional 'surety' may be specified within the bond (often a relative of one of the parties to the marriage).
Declarations of consent etc	If either party is under 21, the consent of her/his parent or guardian is required, and this is usually noted on the allegation. In some cases, an additional affidavit is taken from the parent, or a declaration of their consent is recorded in a separate document.
Baptism records	From September 1822 until March 1823, certified copies of the baptism register entries for bride and groom were generally required and retained with the marriage licence records. In some cases, affidavits or other documents accompany these baptism records.
Marriage licences	The marriage licence itself would be issued to the parties, but in many cases between September 1822 and March 1823 a copy of the licence was retained with the other records.

The marriage allegations generally provide more information about the parties than the bonds, including their marital status, recent places of residence and (frequently, but not always) their occupations. Their ages may be given precisely, or the affidavit may just state that a party is over 21.

Within the list of records, the date of an additional document is only stated if different from the date of the allegation. Note that the date of the original baptism has not been recorded within the list (for those allegations which are accompanied by copies of baptism register entries).

The bonds and allegations cover the whole diocese until 1882 (Northumberland and County Durham, excluding Hexham and Hexhamshire which were a detached part of York diocese). From 1882, the diocese of Durham was roughly coterminous with the historic County Durham area, and allegations for Northumberland should survive among the Newcastle diocesan archives held by Northumberland Collections Service (<http://www.northumberland.gov.uk/collections/>).

Conditions of access

All the marriage licence allegations and bonds within this list are open for consultation. Earlier bonds and allegations are available except for a few years when they are too fragile to be produced. Later allegations are available, subject to a 60 year closure for the most recent material (in order to protect the personal information of people likely to be still alive).

Copyright and copying

Permission to make any published use of material from the collection must be sought in advance from the Sub-Librarian, Special Collections (e-mail PG.Library@durham.ac.uk) and, where appropriate, from the copyright owner. The Library will assist where possible with identifying copyright owners, but responsibility for ensuring copyright clearance rests with the user of the material

Numbering and listing of the records

The marriage licence bonds and allegations were kept within yearly bundles in date order, but not originally numbered in any way, and they are listed in this order (without numbers) in the pre-1815 calendars. Full reference numbers were added prior to their digitisation by the Genealogical Society of Utah c.2004 (for eventual publication on their familysearch website). The bonds and allegations for 1821-1837 were then listed by volunteers in 2009, at the end of the North East Inheritance (probate listing) project: this range was chosen in order to provide some form of finding aid for all the marriage licence records prior to civil registration of marriages in 1837.

Finding aids

The following finding aids are available for the marriage licence bonds and allegations among the Durham Diocesan Records:

up to 1815	Microfilms of indexed lists ('calendars', each covering several years), compiled by a local genealogist c1900 (shelfmark M/FilmL 929.3 DUR). A digitised copy of this is available online at our family records website. For further information on these calendars, see the Administrative Histories guide.
1816-1820	A card index to the licence bonds and allegations for 1816-1820, compiled by library staff, available for use within the Palace Green Library search room.
1821-1837	A database compiled by library staff and volunteers in 2009: see indexed lists on search room shelves (ASCRref Z DDR), or electronic copies (PDFs) made available online at our family records website.
after 1837	Not listed. If you are looking for a marriage licence in this period, you should specify the date of the marriage (from parish registers or civil registration records), so that we can search the relevant box of allegations for you.

An index for 1821 was also published as Yellowley, C., Diocese of Durham marriage bonds 1821 (Tyne and Wear, 1999) .
